

State Consumer Activities

Mark N. Duvall, Principal
Beveridge & Diamond, P.C.

Presenter biography

Mark Duvall is a lawyer with the environmental law firm Beveridge & Diamond. His practice focuses on federal and state regulation of chemicals, particularly in the context of products. He heads the firm's toxic chemicals practice, its FDA practice, and its OSHA practice. In his prior life, Mark was in-house counsel at two major chemical companies.

Presentation abstract

Despite strengthened federal statutes, states continue to regulate chemicals in ways that are important to companies selling products in interstate commerce. This presentation will review California actions under the Safer Consumer Products Regulations, Proposition 65, and the Cleaning Product Right to Know Act. It will also cover other state green chemistry programs and restrictions. It will include comments about the potential impact of related federal actions.
